

Profile - Mag. Peter Bolech

Peter Bolech is a graduate of the Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration, where he studied business economics specialising in transportation and tourism.

During the following 18 years he worked with Austrian Airlines in Vienna in several commercial departments. His roles included Assistant to the CEO, Sales Director, Executive Vice President Europe and General Manager of Austrian Air Services, a regional airline and a wholly-owned subsidiary of AUA.

In a global organisation, which is confronted with cultural diversity every minute of the day, intercultural communication is a basic requirement. Moreover, Peter Bolech was the Head of the widely ramified network of sales offices abroad for seven years. The experience he gathered during countless trips, negotiations and discussions with staff shaped his belief in the relevance and the potential of intercultural interactions.

In his next professional challenge as Senior Executive Vice President of Vienna International Airport plc, he was a member of due diligence teams in several international acquisition projects.

In 2001, Peter Bolech sought his professional future abroad and worked as General Manager of an Austro-Spanish company on the construction and the preparation to operate a "Greenfield" airport in Central Spain. Thereafter, he became Chief Executive Officer of Malta International Airport plc, where he stayed until the end of 2007.

Peter Bolech knows and appreciates working in an international, multicultural environment. His experience includes heading a multicultural sales team, negotiating with business partners and authorities on all continents. He has also been a member of several boards of directors and the CEO of a public listed company with Maltese, Canadian and Austrian shareholders.

Guest lectures, panel discussions and presentations on expert conferences and symposia brought him, amongst others, to Paris, London, Amsterdam, Rome, Osaka, Taipei, Singapore, Hong Kong, New Delhi and Cambridge (Mass.).

Companies under his leadership received several international awards for excellence in the fields of quality and innovation.
